Makinen is a company that designs and builds construction works, bringing Italian refinement to the world since 1995. In that year, Giovanni Chiantella founded the Makinen Venture Corporation and began to design and build his first major works in Equatorial Guinea.

Within a few years, it became one of the most important construction firms in the country, making a name for itself particularly in interior decoration, thereby gaining the trust of highly important clients, who commissioned Makinen to decorate their private residences and high profile public buildings.

The company is now a leader in the field of construction and interior decoration. Hotels, public buildings, parks and private villas are just some of the many projects completed through the dedication of the best craftsmen and most qualified producers in the industry. The companys goal is to grow and expand its market share, while maintaining a high level clientele and consistently offering products of excellent quality.

Makinen offers its services to a select and demanding customer base, and for this reason employs experienced professionals who are able to comply with the various requirements of the customers. An organization that covers the different aspects and various stages of the work process contributes to the successful outcome of the projects in terms of quality and timing.
